Circuit Court,

The court has been engaged chiefly or routine work this week, and with the excep tion of two cases, the record has not sup plied the newspapers with much sensational

One important case was that of Wilson v The C. B. & Q. R. R. Co. This was a case in which Wilson brought suit for damages for ejectment by the conductor for refusing to provided himself with a ticket. In the scuf in the shoulder. The jury awarded Wilson $500.

On trial Thursday was the case of Albert v. McQuade, Some months ago, while Al berti was enlightening the world out of the abundance of his luminous intelligence as editor of the Globe, he took occasion to "show up" Mr. McQuade in a manner highly satisfactory to himself and the Globe, but not so much so to McQuade, who fell back on his good right arm for a remedy and gave Alberti (with an i) a severe pommeling in the presence of the guests at the Clifton along about noon soon after the appearance of the Globe. Alberti felt aggrieved. Like a good many other people who tread on cornand say smart things about their neighbors, he felt that it was a breach of the peace and of good manners, and a cruel wrong gener ally, as well as presumptious, for the victim to kick back. So he sued McQuade for $5,000 damages. After hearing the eviden e and the arguments by Attorneys Snow and Fullerton for the plaintiff, and Bull, Moloney and Mayo for the defendant, the jury retired and at 6:45 rendered a verdice for the plaintiff at one cent damages.

On Thursday, Sears, the House murdered of his wife, the recital of which a few weekago filled the community with horror, was brought into court. He denied all knowledge of his act. An old man, well along in the eighties, without money or friends, he was without counsel, whereupon the Court appointed Henry Mayo to defend him. NEW BUSINESS.
